WELCOME

Welcome to another edition of Woof.

Things are slowly returning to something we may once again be able to call normal.

It now seems apparent that most of the annual events we all look forward to and enjoy, whether that is attending or organising will not be happening this year after all.

I know that lots of organisations are already planning for next year, to make their events bigger and better than ever, something for us all to look forward to.

Despite not much going on, we still have some interesting articles from around our villages.

The next page still contains useful contact information and help if you should require it.

For those of you on Facebook, I have just found this group, Ockley Days. It contains photos and stories from Ockleys past. The Brewery Arms pub, Oliver Reed, Leith Hill Tower, cricket, football, the Silver Jubilee and much much more.

And don't forget, you can always download this and all our previous issues from www.ockleymagazine.co.uk

From all of us at Woof, stay safe, healthy and happy.

Alan Hardy

The Ockley Village Facebook page is here to encourage local businesses, charities, societies and clubs to share their news with the villagers of Ockley as well as keeping the community connected. Capel & Ockley Church

On our website there are details of information about Covid-19; daily diocesan updates for churches, the Coronavirus Parish Angel scheme helping those who are self-isolating with essentials such as food and prescriptions. (The CPA has been set up by St John the Baptist Church, Capel; St Mary Magdalene Church, The Holmwood, and Capel Parish Council). There are phone numbers to ring for Capel people and numbers for Beare Green residents. There are lots of volunteers working extremely hard helping those who need help. They are also working with the Dorking Community Fridge to distribute nearly 100 bags of fresh food to those who need it, each week.

We are trying to keep in touch with our congregation and any others who would like to be included in our villages and I am always available on the other end of the phone 01306 711260 or by email liz@hostmyserver.co.uk to speak to anyone who would like a chat or needs some help.

Everything can be accessed from our website

WALKING GROUP

Here are the diary dates for the walking group for July and August though it is still doubtful we will be able to walk or that the pubs will be open, but just in case!

The diary dates of the walks, if lockdown is lifted, will be:

Thursday 9 th July	The Punchbowl	10am
Thursday 23 rd July	The Owl	10am
Thursday 13 th August	The Parrot	10am
Thursday 27 th August	The Surrey Oaks	10am

The walks will only go ahead if the lockdown has been lifted. Despite recent easing, there is at the time of writing still a restriction on social gatherings. Email Sue on srsjdixon@btinternet.com if you wish to be added to the walking group email list for maps and if there are any further updates.

The walks are all 6 miles or less and of moderate difficulty apart from 13th August starting at the Parrot, which is a more strenuous walk up to Holmbury, of just over 6 miles.

OKWOOD, OCKLEY AND FOREST GREEN SUMMER FAIR AND FLOWER SHOW

After much discussion, the committee has decided, with extreme reluctance, to cancel the show this year. This will be the first time since World War II - even the gales last year didn't stop us!

We don't know what the government guidelines will be for later in the summer, and large gatherings may still be prohibited. Social distancing on the showground and in the very busy marquee would not be sustainable, and our first priority must be the safety of our volunteers and visitors.

We are very disappointed to have had to make this decision, the show is a very important local event. We will be back with added energy and new attractions for 2021 and the date for your diaries is Saturday 14 August 2021.

We look forward to seeing you all then, and in the meantime stay safe.

UPDATE ON QRMW

Another month on lockdown but gradually now it appears some of the restrictions imposed are beginning to ease and families can be reunited.

Despite the unprecedented situation the woodland has flourished and is looking lovely- a new pond liner was installed during May not without a number of casualties sadly but with the breeding season upon us we hope to see more fish in the coming months. We could do with a few tench to clear the bottom of the pond though, so if you are clearing out your ponds do please contact Debbie (debbiehornblow@yahoo.co.uk) we would be delighted to take them.

Ewhurst resident John Rapley was a godsend when he arrived on two occasions with bowsers full of water to refill the pond in the very dry spell of weather.

Our Great Tits bred in the Post Box again this year and all eight of them survived and fledged on the 28th May. It was an absolute joy to see them hatch and grow for the third consecutive year

The Memorial Woodland celebrated its 6th Anniversary since officially being opened on 1st June but of course our annual celebration could not take place at the woodland due to the Covid-19 Pandemic but we will recreate it next year in an even bigger and better way with the Tree planting and Commemoration Service for 6 families of ex-servicemen honouring their loved ones and The Church of God Willesden Bishop leading the prayers and their Gospel Choir singing in the Woodland. All are welcome so make a note in your diaries for 5th June 2021!

In the meantime we are finding other ways of raising funds, I have been making nesting boxes from wood at the woodland which are selling well (see the photo) the cost is £5 minimum donation for the single boxes and £10 minimum donation for the three tier nesting boxes. Contact Debbie if you would like to order one (debbiehornblow@yahoo.co.uk)

It is also uncertain due to Covid that we will be able to attend the usual fairs and shows we are booked in to attend both locally and throughout the South of England this Summer but we have to roll with the punches and keep everyone safe.

The woodland is again open for visitors 24/7 and you are welcome provided social distancing and group numbers are kept to the guidelines. Bring a picnic and sit at one of our new benches provided by The Peoples Lottery and enjoy the tranquillity and birdsong of our Memorial Woodland. If we are not there, you can park outside the front of the car park, the side gate is open for you to enter the woodland. If we are there a cup of tea is always available.

God bless and keep safe

Paul Cooling, Chairman, The Quick Response Memorial Woodland

NEWS FROM THE BELFRY

More Virtual Bellringing

At the time of writing there is still no bellringing allowed in this country and no suggestion of when the restrictions will be lifted. There are concerns with the proximity of ringers whilst ringing, contact with the rope and the facilities available in churches to allow for handwashing and sanitizing of ropes and anything else touched in gaining access to the ringing area. There are plans for a major campaign called Ringing Returns when ringing resumes, which it is hoped will have a similar impact to that for Ringing Remembers. Obviously it is difficult to make plans without a date!

We have continued to hold virtual practices every week on Zoom, allowing us to keep in touch with members of the bands at Ockley, Newdigate and Capel. A new resource was created at the beginning of lockdown by ringers in America called Ringing Room, and is still being improved on. It allows any user to create a tower and each ringer logged in can be assigned a bell number to ring by tapping a key or clicking on their rope icon. The chimes that are heard come from a recording of the Dorking bells. In fact it was part of a feature on BBC news recently looking at how the Southwark Cathedral ringers were coping during lockdown. Their virtual practice was very similar to our own experience. The use of Ringing Room allows us to practice some ringing albeit without the physical effort and enjoyment, or the aid of ropesight in seeing the other ringers. We have found it very useful in listening and counting our place in the round which should hopefully be of benefit when we ring for real once again as well as playing tunes for fun.

There are a number of resources available online and in particular, the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers has put together an index of YouTube videos (cccbr.org.uk/news/). This includes the news item mentioned above as well as an item by Josh Partridge in the Miscellaneous section which may also be of interest to a non-ringer. He demonstrates ringing a bell up (and down again) while a camera in the belfry simultaneously shows the effect of his actions on the bell. The rest of the videos are mainly tutorials in using ringing software, webinars from the Association of Ringing Teachers (ART) and training videos from a number of ringing associations.

The Ringing World, a weekly magazine for ringers, has introduced a number of puzzles to keep their readers amused. A popular one is Methodku which has a grid with missing numbers to fill in and the solution is a diagram of part of a method. The main criteria are that in each row the number of each bell must appear once and only once, and that, as in normal method ringing, there are no jump changes, so numbers can only move forward or back one place per row. An easy example on four bells is reproduced here to demonstrate, with the added proviso for this solution that there are no more than 2 blows in one place. This means that reading it vertically no number can appear more than twice consecutively in a column. It should be possible for non-ringers to solve as the solution does not require knowledge of any method ringing:

Bellringing is an art which has developed and passed from generation to generation in Britain for over three hundred years. It is a wonderful blend of sport, music, exercise, friendship, a challenge of wits and skill which gives great satisfaction when it goes right. If you would like to find out more, please come along. When we resume, practice nights are at St. Margaret's in Ockley, on the 1st and 3rd Wednesday of each month from 7.45 to 9.15, and at St John's in Capel on the 2nd, 4th and 5th weeks.

OCKLEY PARISH COUNCIL

Coronavirus

Please see the parish council website for up to date information for those who would like help during these difficult times.

Many thanks to all of those who have offered help - it has been greatly appreciated.

The home page on the parish council website will have up to date information regarding any meetings.

Points to note since the last report

- Annual meetings weren't held this year because of the coronavirus pandemic.
- The Chairman's report for 2019/20 was put on the parish council website - he noted that this was the first time in living memory that an Annual Assembly had had to be cancelled. Progress on several projects had been delayed; however updates had been given on housing development in the village, the future of the school buildings, speeding in the village, post office service in the village, play area and payphone boxes. The parish council hopes that further information will be forthcoming on these topics during the year.
- New regulations set out by the Government removed the requirement to hold an Annual Meeting and any current appointment would continue until the next Annual Meeting.
- So; Dick Thomas will continue as Chairman and parish councillors are
- Amanda Barclay, Simon Figg, Lucy Hogarth, James Lee-Steere, Jo Page and Barry Thorne. Thanks to them for all they do in the village - particularly in the last few months when they have dealt with added challenges.
- Please see the website for details of meetings to be held during the year.

IT'S AN ILL WIND THAT BLOWS NO GOOD

This can be said of the advent of the coronavirus pandemic as such required those collecting prescriptions to be lined up outside respecting the authorised spacing. In such situations one has the opportunity to make an inspection of the building above normal eyelevel.

Such was the case on one sunny morning for none present, myself included, had ever noticed the presence of large public clock but what is more important to me was there is a weathervane. Weathervanes tell stories, cycle down to Devon and many depict destroyers or frigates, cycle up the east coast and it is trawlers and drifters. All of course unseen from a car.

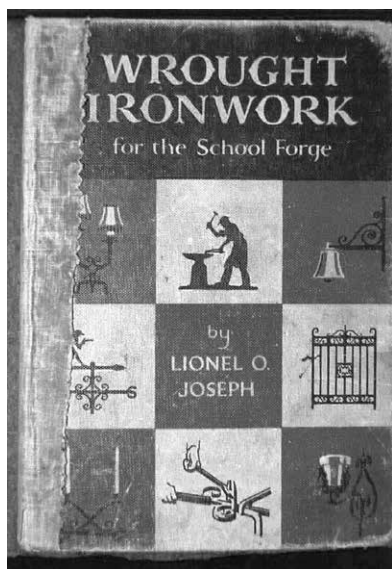

Of the surgery weathervane, it is actually my silhouette of a blacksmith hitting a piece of iron bar as if he is angry (watch television presenters using a hammer and usually they pat a nail or piece of metal rather than strike). I can positively identify the silhouette, as the anvil is the very one purchased and used by a decorative smith making special items for Harrods and especially made for that purpose. It has two bricks whereas the commercial anvil, of the so called 'London Pattern', has only one bick. The bick is the round and tapering pointed end.

Capel Surgery

The silhouette comes from a small text book called "Wrought Ironwork for the School Forge" which I wrote and was published by Macmillan in 1962, there was another book "Small Scale Aluminium Casting" published in 1959, Both books are much sought after today and secondhand copies sometimes come up on 'Amazon' priced at £20 to £50 according to condition. I had a request from a Professor at Manchester University asking if I had a spare copy as he was undertaking a university course for apprentices. I did not possess such but ran a special copy for such use from the original copy.

The weathervane on the Capel Surgery does no credit to the very high standards of care set by the staff at the surgery. The vane is what is known in the trade as 'suburban bent ironwork', the sort sold cheaply in garden centres for hanging baskets etc. Scrolls not properly tapered, having been bent cold around a piece of pipe with a slot cut in it to hold the end of the bar. Blacksmiths use special scroll tools after tapering the ends, which can take many forms, are held when the metal bar is red hot, by a pair of side tongs, closing it on to the scroll tool aided by using blacksmith's long nose pliers made from a couple of old ten inch files, plus the specially made a blacksmith's wrench. (When proofreading the book for the publishers during publication the word wrench in the phrase, had been typeset as "two blacksmiths wenches".)

The silhouette features on many a blacksmith's forge as a weathervane countrywide, it is on a supermarket in Coventry, there have been a couple seen in America and another in Greece with the direction arms bearing the symbols for such in Greek. On one, when cycling the common distance for the first day of a cycle tour, the hundred and ten miles from Forest Green to Dunmow via the Tilbury ferry, I passed through Dunton Green and noticed my silhouette on a vane on the local forge and went in for a chat. The blacksmith admitted that he had pinched the book out of the library when in the army doing national service, and that his mate used it up at the borstal. Interesting I thought. In a rather serious tone of voice I said, "There is such a thing as copyright". The answer was a gem, "What are school books for but to copy out of? I had to copy out pages and pages as a kid in school". Are things much different today regarding homework? We parted good friends, the forge has since closed, and the vane is no longer there, it is probably at his home.

I cannot remember how many vanes, village signs, and pub signs I have made but two stand out in the memory, the village sign at Abinger Hammer and a vane as a retirement present for a yachtsman. For that features the compass rose from the nautical charts, the cardinal buoyage system, and a distant silhouette of a yacht going the right way, passing the coastguard lookout with the distinctive flags of the international code of signals WAY which translated, is 'bon voyage'.

The vane on our own house made sixty years ago is of the highwayman Mr Tibbet taken from the sign at Tibbets Conner on the A3, it is on the roundabout over the underpass, John Ogilby in his book of roads in 1566 describe this area as 'infested by robbers', and the reason it is on our house, it was where I first saw one of the few girls who commuted to London by cycle during the bombing in 1940. It was also the site of our parting two years later, she to nursing and me to the Royal Navy for service in HM destroyers, Bleasdale and Eskimo. It was to be another two years of silence before we met for our first date. That was by the kindness of the naval Surgeon Commander of Sherborne temporary naval hospital in Dorset, after three weeks sick leave and before returning to active service. At the interview he asked had I any questions, I answered yes Sir, I didn't finish digging the garden, as it was a hand injury involving amputations his reply was a surprise, "Three weeks more leave and make sure you damn well finish it!" At that time there was very little physiotherapy, did he realise the value of such? At no time would one say that sort of thing to an executive Commander. Even in wartime one would have been up before the captain in "Defaulters and Request Men" and possibly receive seven days loss of leave and pay.

Another local oddity:-

In the national cycle press the reason for this country not changing to metric measurement for road distances arose. The answer is to be found on a plate on the railway bridge at Ockley. There, it will be found the measurement from the London terminus of 29 miles 40 chains, on a cast iron plate taken from the original surveys of the 1830's. All those plates along with those marking the miles and quarter miles by the line-side countryside, would have needed to be re cast. Each of the mileposts alone would cost at least £50 and not much less for the plates on every bridge. Not to mention the labour cost of removal and replacement, for a new pattern for each would be necessary to make the foundry sand mould, for the post, before casting it in iron. Such would need to be before the line-side post could be removed. Those posts are there for emergencies purposes namely location, should there be a crash or death of a worker checking or repairing the line.

Ockley Cricket Club

Ockley Cricket Club was founded in 1852 and regular matches have been played on The Green since, although there is evidence that games were played even before that.

The Club is somewhat smaller than it used to be but still manages to assemble a side for at least one day per weekend during the summer months. In common with several other village cricket clubs we do struggle at times for players, so if you fancy playing the game, don't be shy and give it a go!

Most of our games are Surrey Downs League matches.

We currently host two quizzes (March & October), The Cricket Sevens (September), The Ockley Bonfire, Firework and Torch Parade (November) and Carols on the Green (December), plus one or two extra events per year.

We put on a large scale pantomime each New Year and recently re started our summer productions which consist of two one act plays with a supper provided.

We utilise many skills, not just on stage, carpenters, artists, technical, musicians, props, coffee makers, cake makers, wardrobe, publicity, finance to name but a few roles.

If interested, please do call our Chairman for a friendly chat. Martin Pratt, Chairman, 01306 628155
